Eunice and Hal David's love for each other was legendary. For the first time, Eunice recounts her exciting life as the wife of one of the world's most renowned lyricists. Memorable anecdotes include how Hal came to write some of his most iconic songs, such as the Academy Award-winning "Raindrops Keep Fallin' on My Head," "What the World Needs Now is Love," "To All the Girls I've Loved Before," and "The Four Winds and the Seven Seas." All set within the span of their world-wide travels and historic events, this novel covers their magical twenty-five years of marriage, which all began with a simple game of tennis. About the Author Eunice David devotes her time to philanthropic work in her community and also serves on numerous Boards, including the Board of Governors of Cedars-Sinai Hospital in Los Angeles. Both she and her late husband, Hal David, produced five extremely successful shows, the proceeds of which benefitted the Los Angeles Music Center. The two were happily married for twenty-five years. Eunice David has also written numerous travel journals and another novel entitled High Rise, Low Down.
