ArangoI anxiously awaited for the UPS delivery guy to bring me "Havana Street Style" and once I got it - I could not put it down! Love Conner Gorry style of writing and describing the various areas in Havana, the beauty, and creativity and fashion sense of modern day Havana, Cuba. Pics were awesome, big, bold, perfect! She has made me fall in love with the country of my parents even more so; and now that my dad is gone, and my mom is ill, its' like being "that closer" to them and their homeland through this book! Can't wait to go to Cuba for the first (and hopefully not last) time soon! (My only regret after viewing the wonderful pics in this book is that alas' I'm in the "temba" stage of life when I visit Cuba in 2016 and can't rock the tight, short "fly"! Sigh.) Que Viva Cuba! Congrats to both Conner Gorry, Gabriel Solomons and photog Martin Tompkins for a wonderful keepsake. Love, love, love the book! P.S. Visit her blog and get the Travel App (just Google her name)! I'm sure it will come in handy when I'm over there next year - si Dios lo permite! {Ache pa ti Conner!}

When it comes to fashion, few metropolitan areas are more synonymous with style than New York, London, Paris, and Milan. But the couture capitals of tomorrow may be located in less likely locales. Addressing the interplay between the development of fashion centers across the world and their relationship to consumption and street style in both local and global contexts, the books in the Street Style series aim to record emerging fashion capitals and their relationship to the physical landscapes of the street. By examining how particular ecologies of fashion are connected to the formation of gender, class, and generational identities, this series establishes a new methodology for recording and understanding identity and its connection to style. Havana Street Style is the first book that explores and reveals the relationship between culture, city, and street fashion in Cuba's capital. Matching visual ethnography with critical analysis, the book documents a unique street style few in the United States have yet experienced.

About the Author Conner Gorry has lived in Havana since 2002. She works as a journalist and editor for MEDICC, Cuba Health Reports, and Cuba Absolutely, and is the author of over a dozen Lonely Planet guides. Gabriel Solomons is a graphic designer and senior lecturer at the Bristol School of Creative Arts. He is also editor of Intellect's World Film Locations and Fan Phenomena book series.
