perspective Matthew Hilger provides are indispensable for playing limit holdem. Many books have starting hand charts that leave you guessing depending on the situation. Not this book. The specifics of the starting hand chart are worth far more than the purchase price. Specifically, positive expectation situations are clearly defined based on position, number of callers, if the pot has been raised, and finally, your starting hand. For the past several months I have used this starting hand chart in combination with John Belori's limit book's guidelines Twenty-Five Absolute and Undeniable Truths About Texas Hold'Em: It's Texas Hold'Em in a Nut Shell to rake fewer but FAR LARGER pots than ever before. The combination of techniques and hand charts have worked equally well in both live and online games. On a side note, I recently returned from the opening weekend of the L.A. Poker Classic where the profits from the limit cash games more than paid for the entire trip. FYI: Matt Savage did an incredible job as tournament director! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. The Best Limit Book I have found!! By Chris This is a true course! Straightforward, well organized, readable, and PRIMO problem sets with full explanations for the answers. The best Limit book I have found. You will recoup the price many times over!! Just started to read the e-book and I see already a paragraph is missing that is found on page 60 of the paper copy. Kind of annoying. I hope I don't come across any other missing portions. All in all a great book.

About the Author Matthew Hilger's interest in professional poker is three-fold: playing, writing, and managing poker content websites. He has written three best-selling poker books: Internet Texas Hold'em, Texas Hold'em Odds and Probabilities, and The Poker Mindset: Essential Attitudes for Poker Success, coauthored by Ian Taylor. Matthew received his bachelor's degree in Finance from the University of Georgia in 1989. He completed a master's degree in Finance at Georgia State University in 1991 as well as a master's degree in International Business from Thunderbird in 1996. Prior to embarking on a poker career, Matthew worked in various accounting, finance, and consulting positions. Matthew started playing professionally on the Internet in 2001 and has logged thousands of hours online, playing at limits from $1-$2 up to $100-$200 and in countless online tournaments. In 2008, Matthew demonstrated his tournament prowess by winning a major online event with a $132K first place payout as he outlasted over 3,500 opponents. In December 2008, he won a $100K guaranteed tournament by outlasting 9,999 opponents. Matthew cashed in the main event of the World Series of Poker three times between 2004 and 2007, including a 33rd place finish. He has a total of ten cashes at the World Series of Poker, including one final table. He won the New Zealand Poker Championship in 2002. In 2007, he made back-to-back final tables at the 2007 Aussie Millions Championships.
