Book by Hammer

From Library JournalHammer provides lists of film awards for over 40 countries and admittedly sketchy overviews of major cinema trends for most countries. The listing for each prize includes a brief description, the years awarded, and the categories and winners. Because of the difficulty of obtaining data, some gaps exist. Certain types of awards have been omitted, such as those presented at international film festivals. Some of what is included might be considered "factoids"; the entry for Romania consists entirely of awards for 1966. Also, some of the statements made in the historical overviews are debatable. There may indeed be a need for a resource of this kind, but both because of what is included and what is omitted, this is marginal.- Roy Liebman, California State Univ.
