I do the Wall Street Journal and NY Times crosswords, which are rather difficult, so I like to switch to these "Scooby Snack" puzzles for when I just want to have fun and relax in between the brain busters. I just love it and you get a TON of puzzles for such a great price. The book opens up and lays flat thanks to the spiral binding. Very enjoyable--will buy more of these for sure! And I have no trouble with my eyes, either. Just sometimes, dangit, it's nice to see large print! 4 of 4 people found the following review helpful. Perfectly suits our needs. By martha callahan I bought some crosswords from this series last year and liked them so well that I searched for more. My Mom, who is 92, and I do one of these together every morning. They are easy on the eyes-- unlike some "large-print" puzzles which have large grids but tiny writing! In her prime, Mom used to do only the "Expert" puzzles, and then hand the books down to her poor, crossword-challenged daughter, A.K.A. me. Those days are gone, but Mom now enjoys the level of challenge found in these books. I would rate them a "medium" challenge. Some of them have a theme or special clues, some don't. I highly recommend this series for someone who wants to avoid eye strain and isn't looking for the challenge of The New York Times. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Great book for seniors / use with Lap King lap deskBy Linda DeyoungThe T.Joseph large print crossword books are great for my elderly mother. The puzzles are challenging but not as hard as the NY Times. Large print is wonderful for older eyes, and she likes the spiral binding which allows her to clip on her pen so it's always handy. We actually have a different puzzle book in each room so she doesn't need to lug them around --- they are big and rather heavy. This is a drawback for arthritis, but the sheer size and firmness makes it easy to write on without buckling. Also helpful: Elevate and support the book on The Lap King lap desk which has a reversible (buttons off) flat tray for writing, reading, eating - or bubble tray (for PC). Either side works well for any purpose and we just ordered a second so we can stop sharing the one we have.

Here are large print, generously sized crosswords approved by the National Association for Visually Handicapped. There's no need to strain while reading the clues and numbers in the boxes because each of these puzzles takes up two pages, making them easy to see and fill out. They'll baffle you in the most delightful way, testing your wits on a variety of fun subjects.
