Four StarsBy BillGood college textbook.1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. sociology textbookBy Elizabeth SanchezI rated this a 5 because I was looking for a loose leaf book instead of the actual book and the delivery was fast. The book arrived in great conditions and the packaging was just the size of the book not to big or not to small. I would recommend this to anyone, unless you choose to buy a book instead of a loose leaf paper. The pages however were thin compared to the actual book so you have to be careful when you flip the pages in a binder and it is less durable than the textbook but overall it was a great loose leaf book!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Interesting read.By AlleyCatRented this book for my husband's sociology class that he was taking. He only had it a short time but I read some of the information in the chapters and it was really very interesting. I always like sociology when I was in college. The book came in decent condition for a used book. I would recommend this book for anyone interesting in studying why people are they way they are and why they do the things that the do.

About the Author William E. Thompson was born and raised in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and was the first member of his family to receive a high school diploma. He received his bachelor's degree from Northeastern State University, a master's degree from Missouri State University, and a Ph.D. from Oklahoma State University. Professor Thompson has authored and coauthored more than 30 articles in professional journals, including several reprinted in sociology textbooks and readers. He has coauthored a textbook on juvenile delinquency. Thompson also is the author of The Glass House, a nonfiction account of his mother's two year battle with cancer and the lessons about life and living learned from her death and dying. Professor Thompson began his college teaching career at the University of Tulsa. He spent the next ten years at Emporia State University in Emporia, Kansas. He is currently a professor of sociology and criminal justice and Director of Mayo College, a residential learning community for first-year students, at Texas AM University - Commerce. He has also taught in the British Studies Program at Kings College, University of London. In 1993 Thompson received an Outstanding Teaching Award from the Texas Association of College Teachers, and in 1994 he won the Distinguished Faculty Award for Research and Teaching at Texas AM University - Commerce. For fun and relaxation Thompson plays the drums.
